STAMFORD, CONNECTICUT - Since 1969, the Urban League of Southern Connecticut (ULSC) has sought to address society's most pressing problems by providing social services referral, mentoring and training to low-income individuals and families in our community. ULSC works at the regional level to enable individuals to secure and sustain economic self-reliance and parity through education and instruction.

The Urban League of Southern Connecticut, in collaboration with the AARP Foundation, is proud to announce the launching of the first WorkSearch Center in the state of CT on February 15, 2010, located at 46 Atlantic Street in Stamford. AARP Foundation's WorkSearch program provides job and career information, training and related employment services to individuals, ages forty and over, who are seeking to remain in, or re-enter the workforce.

The main goal of this program is to allow these individuals to remain competitive in today's job market. In order to achieve this goal, the program offers a variety of services that are unique and invaluable for older individuals seeking employment. The program provides a variety of services such as skill assessments, on-line training, community-based training, and links to available job opportunities. For more information about this exciting new program, please call the ULSC at (203) 327-5810.
